2030.

---

This collection of postcards represents the super-conditions of the future world in 2030 inside the domain of Migration.

In case you want to share your postcard for the future with me drop me an e-mail: inestheriaga@gmail.com. I am pleased to hear your ideas.

The time is always right to do what is right.

(1) Educating for Work vs. Educating for Life.

By 2030, more people will be educated for 'working life' and individuals will not have the necessary emotional skills to cope with an ever-changing future and reinvent themselves.

I am currently staying at a guesthouse for migrants and families in Patania, just outside Athens, with my family. It'd like to go to Germany. We already know my family and I were granted permission to relocate to a german city. We are hoping to start a new page in our lives. I wish I could make people love each other - that is my dream.

Delft joined the movement to address the Migration Development Goal of Social Connections for 2040!

What is the SDG about?

The increase of climate change, violence and wars increased the number of refugees fleeing to Europe. Such fact is enhancing the clash between cultural identities and the prejudices and misconceptions amongst the European society in relation to newcomers. The municipality is aware of this disconnection between the local community and the refugees arriving. In order to tackle this situation, we want to inform all the local citizens that, starting from this year, Delft will be joining the movement to address the Migration Development Goal of Social Connections. By 2040, we aim to achieve the vision of creating a more cohesive and inclusive community in our city: Multiple projects will be introduced around the city in order to support this goal. This may be a long journey, but Delft, in collaboration with multiple European cities, is about to bring change. Hopefully, in 10 years from now we will live in a more inclusive community where everyone is welcome and where the way we connect to each is part of our core values.

The Market Project

The Market Project is a pilot program that started running at the local market that aims to integrate refugees in the social space of the local community. Refugees will be producing and selling products based on their cultural background. From this year on, the local community and refugees will have the possibility to get in contact, interact and share their cultures. Any refugee with a residence permit is able to apply and become part of the program.

THE REFUGEE, LIKE THE
SLINKY IS IN A CONSTANT
STATE OF TRANSITION.
MOMENTARILY, LIFE SEEMS TO FREEZE IN TIME IN THE
HOPE THAT SOMETHING WILL CHANGE. BUT THEN IT
COMES BACK DOWN AGAIN,
AND AGAIN, AND AGAIN...
