

Design for reducing the food waste of the TUDelft banquet service

Xiaonan Yang
5232899
Master of Integrated Product Design
2022.12.22

Comittee
Chair: Dr.ir. H.N.J. Schifferstein
Mentor: Dr. P. Cankurtaran
2nd Mentor: Mark Voorhaar

1. When the conference organizers organize a meeting, they will arrange the lunch for the meeting.

2. When the conference organizer opens the website, they could download the conference food form to write the meeting information and send it to the orderer.

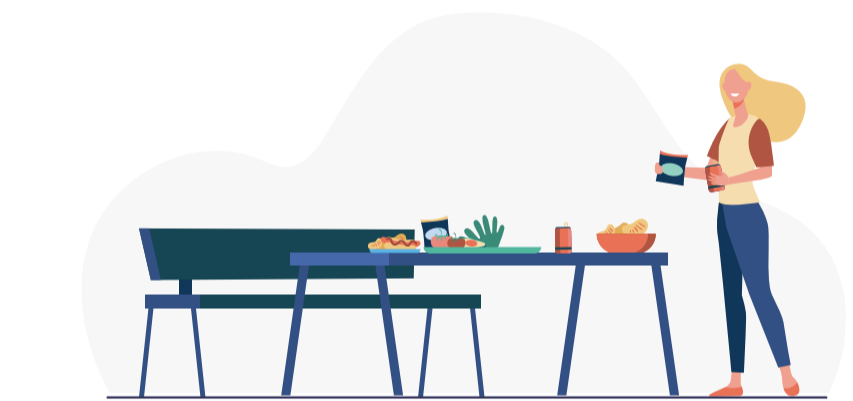

3. When the orderer gets the conference information from the organizer, they will download the participant card and send it to the audience to fill it in.

4. After the orderer gets the amount of feedback from the audience, they will book the food from the website. In the meantime, they will see the tips for booking the food on the website written by other orderers to take the reference of it.

5. After the meeting, the orderer or the conference organizer will send the left food information to the App at different faculties.

6. The students will receive the notification of the food message from the App and go to the specific position to take the food.

7. Students could pack the food with the provided package or take it to eat.